Norfolk, Va., April 21.—Charlie Strain proved too much for Norfolk this afternoon, and in spite of being touched for eight hits, carried his team to an easy 6 to 3 victory. Both teams played far from perfect ball, each being charged with errors.

For four innings it was a pitchers' battle between Strain and Steve Gaston, but in the fifth the Colts broke the tie with two runs. Luskey singled and was sacrificed to by Tennant. Strain was out, third to first, but Steve Griffin shot a good one-base safety to left, scoring Luskey. Laval also singled, and when Kircher let the hit go through him Griffin scored.

Richmond got two more in the seventh, at the beginning of which Campbell relieved Gaston. Campbell was wild, and the two passes with singles

LEAGUE OUTFIT BEATS TRINITY

Durham, N. C., April 21.—The Durham Bulls defeated Trinity here this afternoon by the score of 11 to 4. The college boys did not have a chance to win the game, as the leaguers knocked Knight out of the box in two innings, and pushed nine men across the plate. Godfrey went in for the college in the second and held the Bulls down to five hits for the remainder of the game. Eldridge held the collegians to one hit for five innings. A batted ball hit Eldridge in this inning and sent him to the bench. Shortstop W. Kelly was also injured in the game and had to retire. Both men were pretty badly hurt, but their injuries will hardly incapacitate them for the game on Thursday. This is the last game the Bulls play before the opening.

PALMETTOS OSE BY POOR PLAYING

Perritt, South Carolina Pitcher, Suffers Through Laxness of His Teammates.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lexington, Va., April 21.—Loose playing on the part of the University of South Carolina gave Washington and Lee a 5 to 4 victory to-day. Perritt, for the visitors, pitched a good game, allowing only two hits and striking out seven men, but his support failed at critical moments. In the first inning Washington and Lee got two men out without a hit and both scored on a wild throw. In the second Colville was hit by pitcher, went to second on Harrison's sacrifice, and scored when Metts overthrew third. Carolina tallied twice in the second by bunting hits, and added two more in the third on home runs by Watts and McMillan. With the exception of these two innings, "Chief" Myers had the Carolina line at his mercy. Washington and Lee won the game in the fifth when Lancaster walked and scored on Waggoner's three-bagger, who came home when McMillan furnished Donahue's drive. Terry's fielding at short was a feature. Eden hit safely three times. The Lexingtonians play A. & C. of North Carolina, to-morrow. The score:

CHAMPS SHUT OUT GOOBER CROWD

Quick, Alert Fielding of Visitors Contrasts With Petersburg's Slow Play.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Petersburg, Va., April 21.—The Champs of last year put it all over the Goobers this afternoon, winning easily in a game which was marked by quick, alert and clean fielding on the part of the Champs and listless play on the part of the Goobers. Brooks was in the box for the home team, and was hit hard in the fifth inning when three singles and a double netted the Champs three runs. Eiford for the visitors was in fine form, holding the home team down to four singles and a triple. His support was classy, a muffed fly by Blauser, which did no damage, being the only error made by the Champs. Blackstone's stick work and the double play by Irmischer, Blauser and Pressly were the features.

JOHN MARSHALL PLAYS M'GUIRE'S

One of Deciding Games of Prep School Series at Ball Park To-Day.

This afternoon at Broad Street Park one of the most exciting games of the season will be pulled off. It will be one of the championship games of the prep school league, McGuire's University School and John Marshall High School being the contestants.

The league schedule is nearing its close, as five games have already been played. One of these, however, has been thrown out. This was the game between High School and McGuire's which was carried off by the public school lads to the tune of 11 to 1.

It is wild, however, because of a technicality in the league laws. No team can be predicted winner, so closely are they bunched. The teams which play this afternoon are particularly well matched to get a lead of one game if possible.

Hammond will go to the mound for McGuire's, while Craig, who has been showing fine form, will twirl for John Marshall. Eakin, high school's crack pitcher, will be shifted to second for the game. Hoover will receive as usual. The line up will be about as follows:

AVIATOR FALLS ON LAST FLIGHT

Gray Was to Quit Exhibitions When He Met With Disaster.

As another evidence of the perversity of fate, comes the accident suffered by Aviator George Gray, when, in an attempt to land within the ball park on Saturday afternoon, in the presence of thousands of baseball enthusiasts, he came to grief, completely demolishing his aeroplane and causing considerable uneasiness on the darkened side of the bleachers. Like the engineer's last ride, this was to have been the aviator's final exhibition. For five years he had successfully defied the dangers of his profession and had come off unscathed, only to meet disaster on Saturday.

Particularly distressing is this accident because, having won his spurs as a mounter of the air, Gray was just ready to start an aviation school. Years of training under the tutelage of the wonderful Wrights have made him more than an average student of aviation. He is anxious to impart some of his knowledge to those who, like himself, are interested in this twentieth century science.

It hasn't been a long time since Gray managed to pay for his machine. Aeroplanes are rather costly trinkets, and this one of Gray's, equipped to carry passengers, represents an investment of $5,000. Further, it was his entire capital, his all, which was his means of livelihood. He had been invested in the aviation school, plus his knowledge of the air, his journey in Virginia, and especially in the neighborhood, had not been overly successful financially standpoint. As to his flights, those who saw him as he soared thousands of feet above these seven hills winding his way across the Appomattox and the James in the city-to-city flight from Richmond to Petersburg and return, can bear evidence that they were thrillingly spectacular. But they brought no money.

Knowing of his accident and of the loss entailed, many business and professional men have said that they would gladly contribute toward a fund to aid Gray in rehabilitating his machine. They feel that in this way they can partially, at least repay him for his splendid flights through and over the city. It is highly probable that such a fund will be started within the next day or two. Once his craft is rebuilt—a matter of two or three weeks at best—Gray will then break his resolve to make no more exhibition flights, and if proper arrangements can be made, will ride from Richmond to Washington, carrying to the people of the nation's capital the news of the hospitality of the people of the Old Dominion.
